FOSTER BLODGETT.

HIS SUDDEN DEATH ON MONDAY.

Ill of Typhoid Fever—Brief Biography of the Deceased—The Last Minutes to the Remains of the Deceased.

Yesterday morning the citizens of this city were astonished by the announcement of the death of

MON. FOSTER BLODGETT.

It was known that for some time past he had been suffering from an attack of typhoid fever, but no apprehension was felt as to the result. On Friday it was reported that Mr. Blodgett was much better, and that his speedy recovery was looked for. After the close of the fever, his system gave way to an attack of diarrhea, which continued in shortly after eight o'clock this morning. He died suddenly and surrounded by his family and friends.

The report of his sudden and unexpected demise was not confined to his late political friends but was joined in by many who had known him and who were politically his opponents.

Foster Blodgett was a man of warm personal attachments and of a genial nature who could not be said to have been a political party man.

In the early days of his political career, he was a member of the Georgia Democratic Association, and he was one of the personal advisers of a large number of his political associates. Foster Blodgett had many enemies and the friends common to our country, but he had a warm heart, a generous nature and an equitable temperament that made him a favorite with many of his fellow citizens.

On Friday he had an evident desire to be at some of the late political meetings and good feeling among the people.

From the Augusta Chronicle we quote the following description of the deceased:

Mr. Blodgett was born in Augusta on the 15th of January, 1818, and was the son of a farmer. He was educated at the University of Georgia, and held the office of clerk of the court in 1842. He was elected member of council from the first ward, and held that office until 1848, when he was elected mayor. He was re-elected in 1849, and was a candidate in 1851, but was defeated by Mr. Robert H. May. He was elected clerk of the Georgia Democratic Association in 1852, and was re-elected in 1853, 1854, 1855, 1856, 1857, 1858, 1859, 1860, 1861, 1862, 1863, 1864, 1865, 1866, 1867, 1868, 1869, 1870, ATLANTA, GA.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, NOVEMBER 14, 1897

ROUNDABOUT IN GEORGIA.

—Augusta will soon have a new paper to be called the Evening News. It is to be published by Messrs. James L. Goss, John M. Weigle, and W. H. Moore. Mr. Moore—the William S. well in Atlanta, will have charge of city department of the News, which is equivalent to saying that that feature of the paper will be sprightly and full. Success to the News.

—It would be surprising in the least to see some of the Milledgeville papers rise and suggest that Mr. Stephens gives no reasons for his preference for Atlanta as the capital because he has none to give. Indeed, we shall be surprised if something of the sort is not said.

—If twelve reasons won't satisfy the Macon Telegraph we have some more to select from.

—Annie Logan says that poets are always fat. We don't know how that is, but some of them had awfully.

—Igneis Vording is writing poetry for the Eliza Courier, but who is she writing poetry for?

—Mumford, of the Talbotton Standard, we are glad to learn, is getting well enough to go to Atlanta after a glass of Atlanta beer.

—Reece, of the Macon Telegraph and Messenger, is again in Washington.

—The weekly Savannah News is to be enlarged.

—The editor of the Gainesville Southern doesn't appear to be fond of Colonel Canine.

—Annie Logan didn't know that Van Ettes, of the Gainesville North Georgian, was married until somebody told her. He doesn't look a bit like a married man in the photographs we have seen of him.

—A good healthy Covington poet can eat four dollars' worth of slate pencils every two months.

—Colonel Styles, of the Gainesville Eagle, was in the city yesterday. He looks like a man who had grown tired of eating opium and potatoes.

—Does Americans desire to have a law passed preventing Mr. Wadley from dealing gently with the sad-faced clown? And yet, for aught Americans may know to the contrary the sad-faced clown may have a mother-in-law, or step-children, or the ring worm, or something of that kind. Mr. Wadley should be applauded for his tenderness.

—General Robert Toombs: "Atlanta is the commercial and popular capital of the state of Georgia. Her energy, enterprise and public spirit have conquered all opposition and it would be in my judgment, the purest folly for the people, from any sentiment, to put the political capital elsewhere."

—A carload of cotton causes the editor of the Gainesville Southern to unloose his cravat and soar into the realms of poetry.

—Mr. H. P. Richards, of Rockdale county, made thirteen bales of cotton on thirteen acres of land this season.

—The Conyers Courier says Sam Small has converted the opposition to Atlanta in Rockdale county.

—The Griffin News calls him Colonel Fat-and-goat-acton. The way he picks up subscribers, however, shows that if he goes last he stays long.

—Williamham, of the Carversville Express, ought to nominate "Skirmisher" for congress or for governor. He is such an able politician.

—Major Hooker, the associate editor of the Gainesville Southern, has gone to Florida.

—General Robert Toombs: "This is not a question of place, but of public policy—a question not of the past, but of the present and for the future. Atlanta is a city self-built. Her losses have been those of bad government and fully in proportion to those of the entire state. She has struggled, labored and thrived. She complied with all her promises to the state in the past, and in her present position, again made to relieve the people from expense in locating their capital, will be found faithful. Her proposition is perfectly legal and no pronouncement it."

—Claude Cochran, of the Eliza Courier, vows and declares he is no colonel.

—The Gainesville Southern modestly tells of a tobacco plant eight feet two inches in height.

—The Rome Tribune says: Atlanta agreed to furnish a capital to the state for ten years, and it is said she has not complied with her contract. Such is not the fact. She furnished in the first instance the capital, which was not large enough. She then rented the opera house from Kimball at six thousand dollars a year, and when the state purchased the building from Kimball, she paid one hundred thousand dollars of the purchase money, or ten thousand dollars a year. Now it is not presumable that Atlanta had anything to do with the sale of that building, as she lost forty thousand dollars by the operation. Atlanta is no way responsible for what Kimball did, and it is unjust to attempt to saddle all the meanness and frauds perpetrated upon Atlanta.

—Virginia's public printing for the past year cost $29,812.25.

—Mississippi, Texas and South Carolina hold state fairs this week.

—Gov. John Leitch was defeated for the legislature in Rockledge county, Va.

—Gov. Hunton addressed the colored people at the A. M. E. church, Wednesday evening, in Columbia, on the subject of popular education.

—New Orleans has not paid her city officials since August, and Recorder Smith threatens to pay himself out of the dues paid into his court.

—The young Tennessee wife murderer to be hung the 29th, when asked if he was prepared to die, replied: "I have thought of it—little about it."

—Hon. John M. Bright is still detained at home by the extreme illness of his wife, of whose recovery the Fayetteville Express (Tenn.) says there is scarcely a hope.

—Richmond Whig: The indications are from the returns received that the advocates of adjustment have elected an overwhelming majority of the members of the general assembly.

ROUNDABOUT IN GEORGIA.

—Augusta will soon have a new paper to be called the Evening News. It is to be published by Messrs. James L. Goss, John M. Weigle, and W. H. Moore. Mr. Moore—the William S. well in Atlanta, will have charge of city department of the News, which is equivalent to saying that that feature of the paper will be sprightly and full. Success to the News.

—It would be surprising in the least to see some of the Milledgeville papers rise and suggest that Mr. Stephens gives no reasons for his preference for Atlanta as the capital because he has none to give. Indeed, we shall be surprised if something of the sort is not said.

—If twelve reasons won't satisfy the Macon Telegraph we have some more to select from.

—Annie Logan says that poets are always fat. We don't know how that is, but some of them had awfully.

—Igneis Vording is writing poetry for the Eliza Courier, but who is she writing poetry for?

—Mumford, of the Talbotton Standard, we are glad to learn, is getting well enough to go to Atlanta after a glass of Atlanta beer.

—Reece, of the Macon Telegraph and Messenger, is again in Washington.

—The weekly Savannah News is to be enlarged.

—The editor of the Gainesville Southern doesn't appear to be fond of Colonel Canine.

—Annie Logan didn't know that Van Ettes, of the Gainesville North Georgian, was married until somebody told her. He doesn't look a bit like a married man in the photographs we have seen of him.

—A good healthy Covington poet can eat four dollars' worth of slate pencils every two months.

—Colonel Styles, of the Gainesville Eagle, was in the city yesterday. He looks like a man who had grown tired of eating opium and potatoes.

—Does Americans desire to have a law passed preventing Mr. Wadley from dealing gently with the sad-faced clown? And yet, for aught Americans may know to the contrary the sad-faced clown may have a mother-in-law, or step-children, or the ring worm, or something of that kind. Mr. Wadley should be applauded for his tenderness.

—General Robert Toombs: "Atlanta is the commercial and popular capital of the state of Georgia. Her energy, enterprise and public spirit have conquered all opposition and it would be in my judgment, the purest folly for the people, from any sentiment, to put the political capital elsewhere."

—A carload of cotton causes the editor of the Gainesville Southern to unloose his cravat and soar into the realms of poetry.

—Mr. H. P. Richards, of Rockdale county, made thirteen bales of cotton on thirteen acres of land this season.

—The Conyers Courier says Sam Small has converted the opposition to Atlanta in Rockdale county.

—The Griffin News calls him Colonel Fat-and-goat-acton. The way he picks up subscribers, however, shows that if he goes last he stays long.

—Williamham, of the Carversville Express, ought to nominate "Skirmisher" for congress or for governor. He is such an able politician.

—Major Hooker, the associate editor of the Gainesville Southern, has gone to Florida.

—General Robert Toombs: "This is not a question of place, but of public policy—a question not of the past, but of the present and for the future. Atlanta is a city self-built. Her losses have been those of bad government and fully in proportion to those of the entire state. She has struggled, labored and thrived. She complied with all her promises to the state in the past, and in her present position, again made to relieve the people from expense in locating their capital, will be found faithful. Her proposition is perfectly legal and no pronouncement it."

—Claude Cochran, of the Eliza Courier, vows and declares he is no colonel.

—The Gainesville Southern modestly tells of a tobacco plant eight feet two inches in height.

—The Rome Tribune says: Atlanta agreed to furnish a capital to the state for ten years, and it is said she has not complied with her contract. Such is not the fact. She furnished in the first instance the capital, which was not large enough. She then rented the opera house from Kimball at six thousand dollars a year, and when the state purchased the building from Kimball, she paid one hundred thousand dollars of the purchase money, or ten thousand dollars a year. Now it is not presumable that Atlanta had anything to do with the sale of that building, as she lost forty thousand dollars by the operation. Atlanta is no way responsible for what Kimball did, and it is unjust to attempt to saddle all the meanness and frauds perpetrated upon Atlanta.

—Virginia's public printing for the past year cost $29,812.25.

—Mississippi, Texas and South Carolina hold state fairs this week.

—Gov. John Leitch was defeated for the legislature in Rockledge county, Va.

—Gov. Hunton addressed the colored people at the A. M. E. church, Wednesday evening, in Columbia, on the subject of popular education.

—New Orleans has not paid her city officials since August, and Recorder Smith threatens to pay himself out of the dues paid into his court.

—The young Tennessee wife murderer to be hung the 29th, when asked if he was prepared to die, replied: "I have thought of it—little about it."

—Hon. John M. Bright is still detained at home by the extreme illness of his wife, of whose recovery the Fayetteville Express (Tenn.) says there is scarcely a hope.

—Richmond Whig: The indications are from the returns received that the advocates of adjustment have elected an overwhelming majority of the members of the general assembly.
